CORAM: The Chief Justice and L'Heureux-Dubé, Gonthier, Cory and Iacobucci JJ.

This Court's order of September 18, 1997 is varied in the following respects:

1. The requirement for an independent, objective and effective process for setting judicial remuneration, including any reimbursement for past salary reductions, is suspended for one year from the date of the original judgment, September 18, 1997. As of September 18, 1998, the judicial compensation commission requirement will apply prospectively.
2. Section 17(1) of the Provincial Court Judges Act of Alberta is declared to be unconstitutional. However, given the institutional burdens that must be met by Alberta, this declaration of invalidity is suspended for a period of one year from the date of the original judgment. The Payment to Provincial Judges Amendment Regulation, Alta. Reg. 116/94, is also of no force or effect; that declaration takes effect retroactively as of September 18, 1997.
3. The Court will remain seized of this matter until the end of the suspension period, and the parties or any intervener may apply to the Court for further directions as needed during the suspension.

All other orders requested by the Attorneys General of Alberta, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island, and the request of the Manitoba Appellants to vary the order as to costs are denied.

[TRADUCTION]

L'ordonnance rendue par la Cour le 18 septembre 1997 est modifiée de la façon suivante:

1. L'application de l'exigence concernant le mécanisme indépendant, objectif et efficace de détermination de la rémunération des juges, y compris tout remboursement pour réduction antérieure de traitement, est suspendue pour un an à compter de la date du jugement initial, en l'occurrence le 18 septembre 1997. Le 18 septembre 1998, l'exigence relative à la commission de rémunération des juges s'appliquera pour l'avenir.
2. Le paragraphe 17(1) de la Provincial Court Judges Act de l'Alberta est déclaré inconstitutionnel. Toutefois, vu le fardeau institutionnel auquel doit faire face l'Alberta, cette déclaration d'invalidité est suspendue pour une période d'un an à compter de la date du jugement initial. Le Payment to Provincial

Judges Amendment Regulation, Alta. Reg. 116/94, est également inopérant; cette déclaration produit ses effets rétroactivement depuis le 18 septembre 1997.

3. La Cour reste saisie de la question jusqu'à l'expiration de la période de suspension, et les parties ainsi que tout intervenant peuvent au besoin demander d'autres directives à la Cour durant cette période.

Toutes les autres ordonnances demandées par les procureurs généraux de l'Alberta, du Manitoba et de l'Île-du-Prince-Édouard, ainsi que la demande de modification de l'ordonnance relative aux dépens présentée par les appelants du Manitoba sont rejetées.
